Product Description

100L steel welded/seamless FM200 gas cylinder high cost performance

Features and advantages

Efficient fire extinguishing: Using high-efficiency FM200 or novac 1230 fire extinguishing agent can quickly extinguish the fire in a short time and effectively prevent the spread of the fire. It has remarkable fire extinguishing effect and can deal with various types of fires, including solid material fires, liquid or meltable solid material fires, gas fires, charged material fires, etc.

Safety and environmental protection: Gas fire extinguishers use FM200 or novac 1230 fire extinguishing agent, which is non-toxic, odorless, non-conductive and harmless to the human body and the environment. During the fire extinguishing process, no harmful smoke or residue will be produced, ensuring the safety and environmental protection of the fire extinguishing process.

scenes to be used

Office spaces: There are many electronic devices in offices, conference rooms and other office spaces. Once a fire breaks out, the consequences will be disastrous. It can quickly extinguish fires and protect the safety of office equipment and employees.

Commercial places: Shopping malls, supermarkets, restaurants and other commercial places are densely populated with high fire risks. Gas fire extinguishers can respond to sudden fires anytime and anywhere to ensure the safety of customers and employees.

Industrial production: Industrial production sites such as factories and workshops have complex equipment and many flammable and explosive items. FM200 or novac 1230 gas fire extinguisher can quickly extinguish the initial fire, prevent the fire from expanding, and ensure production safety. Gas fire extinguishers can be used in public places such as schools, hospitals, libraries, museums, etc. to provide comprehensive fire safety guarantee for these places.
