Product introduction

Novec 1230 (FK-5-1-12) is an efficient, clean and environmentally friendly fire extinguishing agent. Its chemical name is perfluorohexanone, its chemical formula is $\text{CF}_3\text{CF}_2\text{C}(\text{O})\text{CF}(\text{CF}_3)_2$, and its relative molecular mass is 316.04. This is a clear, colorless, odorless, easily vaporized liquid that is stable at room temperature and non-conductive, leaving no residue after release.

The working principle of Novec 1230 fire extinguishing agent is to extinguish fire through physical endothermic cooling and chemical suppression. When in contact with flames, Novec 1230 can quickly evaporate and absorb a large amount of heat, reducing the temperature of the fire scene, while interrupting the combustion chain reaction and preventing the fire from continuing to expand.

Novec 1230 has extremely low toxicity, zero ozone depletion potential (ODP) and low global warming potential (GWP), making it an ideal halon replacement for applications with extremely high environmental and equipment protection requirements. places, such as data centers, telecommunications facilities, libraries, museums, aircraft cabins, and other protected areas for important electronic equipment and non-renewable assets. In addition, due to its non-corrosive, no residue, and low impact on people and the environment, the Novec 1230 fire extinguishing system has been widely used in many important industries and fields around the world.
